

NEW CORNELIA'S ENLARGED AREA

(Special to The Republican)
BISBEE, July 27.—New Cornelia has acquired the Ajo Consolidated, adding twenty-four million tons to its present forty-two million. The Consolidated holdings contain additional large possibilities. It adds also materially to Cornelia steam shovel area. Underground mining also added on extensive scale assuring a big camp at Ajo. Details of the deal have not yet been made public. This elevates the Cornelia to the ranks of the big tonnage mines and means much increase of its earning capacity.

FUGITIVE TAKEN HERE AT POINT OF GUN, RESISTS

Wanted in Los Angeles for breaking jail there on May 28, a violator of his parole from the Arizona State Prison, where he had been sentenced for the burglary of a garage in Tempe, Jack Kane, alias J. C. Ward, alias N. E. Drury, alias William W. Williams, was arrested at the point of a gun yesterday morning by Policeman Blea at Second and Monroe streets. Ward, as he is known here, was armed and pulled his gun when accosted by the officer. The policeman however, had the drop on him and Ward admitted it by throwing up his hands. In police court yesterday, he was charged with carrying concealed weapons and was given a sentence of twenty days in the city jail. Incidentally word was sent to Los Angeles of the capture.

This makes the second man of four who broke jail on May 28 in Los Angeles, to be captured in Arizona. James Burns was caught in Tucson about a week or so ago and Officer Nolan of Los Angeles took him back after securing his extradition. Word that Ward was in Phoenix was received by the police on Thursday and a good description of him obtained. All of Thursday night the officers were on the lookout for him. Yesterday morning Blea saw Ward walking along Monroe street and accosted him. After the gun play, Ward admitted his identity and did not put up further resistance. In order to change his appearance, Ward had used peroxide of hydrogen on his hair, making him a decided blonde, whereas normally he is a brunette. It is expected that a Los Angeles officer will come for him in a day or two.

GOES AWAY TO BECOME FAMOUS

Oh, girls, just see what you've missed!

You let him be "discovered" in a border town when you had him right here at home and failed to find his true greatness. Ain't it horrible?

The facts of the case leading up to A. O. Erhardt's gaining the title of the Phoenix Tango artist were not made clear in the article appearing in the Northern Daily Herald. Whether or not he will be permitted to claim the honor when he returns to this city, is still another story. Here is the announcement of a dance given in Nogales last evening in honor of the tax commission and county officers in attendance at the tax conference.

"We have in our midst one of the famous tango artists of the state. Girls we present Mr. A. O. Erhardt, deputy assessor of Maricopa County and the Vernon Castle of Phoenix. In the words of the poet, Mr. Erhardt is vain to go and will take on all the light and heavy weight dances of Nogales at the party to be held on Friday night. Sheriff Raymond Earhart, different spelling and no relation, has taken the management of the affairs of the tango dance, and is ready to book all dancers."

KELLY IS GIVEN 150 DAYS TERM

"One hundred and fifty days in the city jail, and it ought to be more," said City Magistrate Frank Thomas in police court yesterday afternoon in sentencing E. "Red" Kelly, after Grace Landis, proprietor of a rooming house on East Madison street, had produced witnesses who testified that Kelly had solicited for her. Kelly had been arrested at the instance of the Landis woman, who declared that Kelly had not only solicited business for her, but had informed her prospective "customers" just what it would cost them to visit her.

Sometime ago Grace Landis served 50 days in the city jail after pleading guilty to a charge of prostitution. Later she rented a rooming house and declared that she was going to mend her ways. About two weeks ago she was again arrested on two charges, one of soliciting for purposes of prostitution and another of using vulgar and profane language. Convicted of both charges she was assessed a fine of $50 in the first instance and $15 in the other. Kelly was arrested with the girl on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was fined $15.

Since then there has not been the friendliest feeling between the two. According to the Landis girl, Kelly came to her house a few nights ago and began abusing her. She determined then and there to have him arrested. The next day she swore to a complaint charging him with violation of the city ordinance prohibiting soliciting for prostitutes. Thursday Kelly was brought into court but witnesses needed to prove the Landis woman's contention were not present and the case was continued to yesterday. At that time two witnesses were on hand who testified that they had first learned of the Landis woman through solicitation on the part of Kelly, who said, according to one of the men.

"Better come down to Madison street. I've got a girl down there." The witness said that Kelly had told him what another witness told a similar story. It would cost him to visit the girl, varying only in that he was not sure that Kelly had said anything about the cost of the visit.

"If that isn't enough," said the Landis woman, "I can bring enough witnesses here who will testify the same as these two, to fill this court room like a beehive."

And then the judge pronounced sentence. Kelly said it was a "frameup" against him by the Landis girl. The young woman before departing said that if he wasn't careful, she would bring enough other witnesses to convict him of a charge of bootlegging. And Kelly said this, too, would be a "frameup" on her part in an effort to get even for wrongs, fancied or real.
